New Power Plant For Dutch Flat

Roads and Campsites Are Now Being Constructed At Dutch Flat

In anticipation of its need for additional power resources to meet steadily increasing load growth throughout Northern California, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company is immediately to build a 28,000 horsepower hydro-electric generating plant near Dutch Flat on the Bear River in Nevada County, according to announcement made today by P. M. Downing, vice president and generalmanager.

Surveys have been in progress for several months and crews are now on the ground laying out roads and campsites for the different units of the job, which will it is estimated require two years to complete. Cost of the plant will be approximately $3,210,000, with an additional investment of $570,000 necessary for transmission lines to connect the plant with the existing transmission system.

First Work On Tunnel

First construction work to be started will be the boring of a four-mile tunnel which will carry water to the new plant from the afterbay of the Drum plant on the Bear River, which in turn is fed by water from the Spaulding Reservoir on the Yuba River. The Dutch Flat plant thus becomes one of a chain of power plants in this area utilizing the same water, which goes back into the streams for subsequent use in irrigating the farm lands of the foothills and valley below.

"Anticipated load growth in 1941 and 1942," said Downing, "will be taken care of through the completion of three new steam generating plants located at oil refineries in Contra Costa County and by arrangements recently made for the purchase of an additional 75,000 kilowatts from the Southern California Edison Company, which will be taken into our system at substations at Piedra in Fresno County and Magunden in Kern County. The new hydro plant at Dutch Flat is the first unit to be undertaken for supplying the anticipated load growth of 1943."

The Nugget last spring was the first newspaper to carry the news of the P. G. & E.'s probable intentions at Dutch Flat when the surveys first started.

P. Davis, coordinating chairman of Willkie For President organizations in Nevada and Sierra Counties. Former President Hoover, a mining engineer, gained his practical mining experience at the Reward Mine near Nevada City.

LOCAL FOOTBALL ELEVENPREPARES FOR G. V. BATTLE

Armistice Contest Promises To Be Best In Many Years

Coach Edward Frantz' Nevada City High School Yellowjackets will undergo stringent practice sessions this week in preparation for next Monday's annual "big game" with Grass Valley High School football team. The game will be played at Hennessy Field in Grass Valley.

For the first time in longer than Yellowjackets care to remember, the local gridiron squad is given a good chance to dump the eleven from the neighboring city.

An indication of the improvement of the Yellowjackets since the season began can be obtained by comparing the score of last Friday's contest with the Nevada City High School alumni and the score of the game between the two teams earlier in the season.

Even Alumni Loss

The Yellowjackets were dumped by a score of 14 to 6 in the first contest with the alumni. Friday, showing a smooth offense as well as a remarkable improvement in defensive play, the Yellowjackets dumped the alumni eleven by a score of 13 to 0.

Except for Kirk Martin, who was injured in the San Juan game, the Nevada City team will be at full strength for the Grass Valley battle. Martin, student body president, who is recuperating at his home from the San Juan game injuries, hopes for a victory for his team and the squad will be playing to fulfill Martin's desire.

The funeral services were under the direction of the Holmes Funeral Home of Nevada City. Interment was in the Downieville Cemetery.

THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L.

As we write the last column before election we have a solemn feeling that the United States is about to dismiss the New Deal. Our Santa Claus, we believe, will presently retire to Hyde Park to meditate peevishly on the ingratitude of a nation that refuses longer to subsist on its own fat. Not the least of our pleasures is the thought that with him will retire Harry Hopkins who referred to the American people as "too damn dumb." There will be poetic justice done if the people prove too smart to take that insult. And with the cynical Hopkins will go the nation's pet aversion, Secretary of Labor Ma Perkins, who for eight years has sat doughtily on her clutch of New Deal eggs and has never hatched anything but trouble in the domain of labor. There will go the unspeakable little man on horseback, one of the minor dictators of the Roosevelt regime, and avid squanderer of the people's money, Harold Ickes.

* * *

Irving Cobb in a radio address the other night wittily observed, "Willkie may not be able to keep us out of war, but he can surely keep us out of Ickes."

* * *

When Willkie takes over in January, as we believe he will, America will again resume its place in world leadership. Business principles, in reducing debt and paying as we go, will be gradually resumed. The hordes that have battened on government largess will gradually be returned to productive work. Te Hitlers and Mussolinis that have derided the United States for eight years as an impotent and thumb twiddling giant, will sing another tune, as industry and 131 million people prepare with dispatch and efficiency to defend themselves against the bandits, plunderers and dictators of this planet.

* * *

If, as we believe, tomorrow marks the end of the lax, happy-go-lucky administration of the man who has spent more money than all other American Presidents combined, the country will have repudiated one of its old salt-savored maxims: "Never change horses in the middle of a stream." The people have come to realize that as long as the Roosevelt family inhabits the White House, this nation will always be in "the middle of the stream." About us have surged the threatening waters of bankruptcy, inflation and debt repudiation. We have been all but submerged in the strife between labor factions, between industry and labor, and between agriculture and labor, especially so in California. Known Communists have wormed their way into the government's petty bureaucratic dictatorships. Indeed communists have been bedded down in the White House. There has been the rush of alien ideologies, the arming and drilling of bundists and Ku Kluxers, one of whose past members has been elevated to the Supreme Court in a moment of peevish resentment on the part of President Roosevelt.

* * *

One hundred days after Roosevelt's first inauguration, we were plunged into a succession of crises. We landed in "the middle of the stream" and we have remained there since. Business stagnated and the unemployment of millions of men and women became stabilized. Youth coming up from our schools and colleges found no work to do and enrolled in the army of relief and unemployment. Think of the vast demoralizing influence of government doles on millions of young men and women that came to their maturity "in the middle of the stream!" No wonder the intelligent men and women of both parties are going to the polls tomorrow "to swap the spavined, shambling, knock-kneed, hammer-headed New Deal horse, for a sturdy, farm-raised American thoroughbred to yank us out of "the middle of the stream." The only thing that will be left of that sorry bogged-down nag, before it is abandoned to the bot flies and horse leeches, will be its silvery neigh over the radio.

* * *

Of course the writer of this column may be indulging in a pipe dream. Betting odds we know are generally against Wendell Willkie. On the other hand the New Deal machine may regret that it did not spend more money on Roosevelt's campaign and less in manipulating the betting odds. Emil Hurja, one time big shot election forecaster for the New Deal, now says that Willkie will win by a substantial majority in the electoral college. Some of the Gallup polls indicate the same result. Personally we think that it will be a very close election. An election so close as this will bring a record number of

Voters In This City Prepared To Cast Ballots

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN INTEREST EXPECTED TO DRAW RECORD CROWD TO POLLS TOMORROW

Nevada City voters are prepared to go to the polls tomorrow and cast ballots on their choice for president and vice president of the United States, United States Senator, two supreme court justices, one appellate justice and 17 proposed amendments.

Tomorrow's election will mark the end of what is probably the most history-making campaign the United States has ever experienced.

The principal interest is in the presidential race in which Franklin D. Roosevelt is seeking a third term, unprecedented in history. Roosevelt's Republican opponent is Wendell Willkie.

The other presidential candidates on the ballot are Roger W. Babson, Prohibitionist, Earl Browder, Communist and Norman Thomas, Progressive.

* Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, is the Democratic candidate for vice president and Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon is Willkie's running mate.

Johnson Opposed

Hiram W. Johnson, who won the Republican, Democratic and Progressive nominations at the August primary, is opposed for United States Senator by Anita Whitney, Communist and Fred Dyster, Prohibitionist.

Harry L. Englebright, congressman; Jerrold L. Seawell, state senator and Allen G. Thurman, assemblyman, are on the ballot but all three eliminteed their opposition at the August primary.

Of special interest to Nevada County voters is the balloting on Raglan Tuttle, former superior judge of this county, as associate justice of the District Court of Appeal. Voters will be required to vote Yes or No on: "Shall Raglan Tuttle be elected to the office for the term expiring January 1, 1947?"

Similar methods are to be followed in the balloting on Phil S. Gibson, chief justice of the supreme court, Jesse W. Carter, and Roger J. Traynour, associate justices of the supreme court.

One County Contest

There is only one local contest in Nevada County and that is in the fifth supervisorial district, where Incumbent Alex Robertson is opposed by Ben Tonini. Both are of Truckee.

The Nugget elsewhere gives its recommendations on the 17 amendments on the ballot.

In Nevada County there are 11,770 registered to vote, the highest in the history of the county. Because of the interest in the presidential campaign a record vote is expected to be cast.

The polls in Nevada County, as elsewhere in the state will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Both the supporters of Willkie and those of Roosevelt are urging the registered voters to vote tomorrow, no matter how they vote.

TWO WOMEN INJURED WHEN CAR HITS TREE

Mrs. Lacy Jones, well known nurse of this city and her mother, Mrs. Roberts, 70, were injured at 5 p. m. yesterday when an automobile in which they were riding skidded on newly fallen snow in Bear Valley and crashed into a pine tree.

Mrs. Roberts is confined to the Miners Hospital here but Mrs. Jones was able to leave for her home after receiving treatment for bruises. Mrs. Roberts suffered a fractured pelvis.

The automobile in which they were riding was driven by Archie Ramsey of Nevada City. The accident occurred on the highway near the Zeibright Mine road. The Ramsey car was without chains and as it was rounding a turn the slushy snow caused it to slide and Ramsey was unable to control it before it crashed into the tree.

The California Highway Patrol has received notification of the accident and will conduct a further investigation today.

We Believe In Wendell Willkie

Perhaps nothing that this writer might say would add one more vote for Wendell Willkie next Tuesday. Nonetheless this newspaper believes that the election of Wendell Willkie as president of the United States, would do more than anything else to give this nation the business revival that it so sorely needs. And a business and industrial revival would put millions of men to work, taking them off of the relief rolls.

The New Deal has had seven years of spending money and yet we have more than 9,000,000 people out of work.

And the New Deal has had seven years of opportunity to build up our defense, but instead of building up our defense during these seven years, the money has been spent for other purposes and our defense program has been left until an election year.

Had some of this money been spent for defense intsead of for some of the purposes for which it was spent, which included such unsound projects as the Passamaquoddy tide-harnessing project in Maine, the Florida ship canal and many others, our nation would not be in the condition it is today as far as defense preparedness goes.

During all of the years that Hitler was preparing for world domination, we were spending money for raking leaves, giving dancing lessons to fishermen, making paper lanterns at a cost of $20 each and in addition to numerous other such spending activities we were adding Communists to the federal payroll.

Surely our government heads must have known what Hitler was doing during all of these years. Then why. may we ask, was our own preparations program put off until just before the election? Was it for the purpose of scaring the American people into voting for a third term? To us it would seem that such was the case. To us we can see what a wonderful opportunity for instilling that "fear" which the chief executive talks so much about, in the people of this nation. He accuses the opposition of spreading "fear" propaganda, but the real "fear" propaganda was started when the administration left the defense program by the boards until just before a national election.

You will hear a great deal about changing horses in the middle of a stream. Well, Great Britain changed their leadership in the middle of a worse stream than we appear to be in and the change was just what Great Briatin needed. Such a change for our own nation would do immeasurably more good than harm. And don't let anyone tell you otherwise. Great Britain proved that its life depended upon changing horses in the middle of a stream. The life of our nation. we sincerely beleve, depends upon our changing leadership at this time.

We need not go into the matter of a third term. Greater writers than this small town editor have covered that issue so thoroughly that little remains to be said. However it is one of the BIGGEST issues of the campaign and may turn out to be the real issue which will elect Wendell Willkie, president.

You may not agree with us, and you have every right to disagree. This is still a free country and we still have the right to disagree. But whatever you do next Tuesday DO NOT FAIL TO GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE.—Colfax Record.

BOARD GIVES ITS VIEWS ON TWO PROPOSALS

County Assessor John Hammill has received notification from the state board of equalization it has gone on record endorsing Proposition 14 on tomorrow's ballot and has recommended a No vote on Proposition 9.

"The board," the notification to Hammill reads, "is in complete agreement with the sentiments of the county assessors in California in opposing Proposition 9, which would enlarge the existing exemption with respect to vessels."

Regarding Proposition 14 the communication from the state board of equalization reads:

"We are confident that you will also concur with us in our endorsement of Proposition 14, which will make it possible for counties and cities to spend the proceeds of the 'in lieu' motor vehicle licenses and alcoholic beverage licenses for local purposes without the restriction that this money must be spent for 'state' purposes. As you doubtless know, observance of present constitutional limitations with respect to the expenditure of such funds causes complex accounting and actually prevents the local governments from making the best use of the money."

The Nevada City council at its special meeting last Tuesday night adopted a resolution recommending a Yes vote on Proposition 9.

In closing this Nugget campaign for sanity in government which we have waged for several years in this column, we urge every voter in Nevada County to go to the polls tomorrow and register his or her choice. NEVADA CITY NATIVE DIES IN VENTURA AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Frank William Morrill, 81 years of age, passed away in Ventura, October 29, after an illness of a few days. He was a native of Nevada City, where he was born July 28, 1859, being the eldest son of Frank E. Morrill and wife, Annie, who reached Nevada County with the gold rush in the early 50's.

Frank spent many years in both Nevada and Yuba Counties, having been farmer, freighter and stockman in both counties. He farmed in the wheat belt of Yuba County prior to his moving to Montvalo, Ventura County, some thirty seven years ago, where he has since resided.

His death is the first in the family circle of wife and nine children who are left to mourn their loss. Frank was married in Smartsville, Yuba County, to Ellen Bushby, native of Yuba County, in 1884, and the children who range in age from 35 to 55 are as follows: Mrs. Minnie Tara, San Francisco; Mrs. Alice Cook of Petaluma, Mrs. Kate Laws of Los Angeles, William Morrill of San Francisco, George B. Morrill of Bakersfield, Mrs. Lillie Medley of Los Angeles, Mrs. Grace Truman and Ann Morrill of San Francisco and Mrs. Blanche Rath of Los Angeles. Besides his immediate family he leaves one sister and three brothers, namely Mrs. Ella Miller, Charles, George and Edwin Morrill of Los Angeles, besides several grand and great grandchildren and many nephews and nieces.

Frank was a member of the Grass Valley Lodge of I. O. O. F., having been affiliated with the order for close to sixty years.

Services were held at Barker's Funeral Parlors in Ventura after which the remains were interred in the Montalvo Cemetery.

SUIT CHARGES EMPIRE STAR MINES SECRETLY WORKED VEINS OF COOLEY BUTLER PROPERTY

Cooley Butler, operator of the Golden Center and Scotia Mines in Grass Valley, has filed a suit in the superior court here against The Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., which operates adjoining mines, charging the defendant company with secretly working mineral ground belonging to him.

The suit filed by the Empire Star recently against Butler, accusing the latter of using the facilities of the Empire Star mines to dewater the Golden Center, is still pending in the superior court here.

Butler's action asks a court decree requiring the defendant to set forth the nature of its claim in the property described in the suit.

The suit charges the workings under the property made by the defendant have been "made surreptitiously, secretly and without the knowledge and consent of the plaintiff."

"The plaintiff is informed and believes," the suit continues, "and upon such ground alleges, that any and all entries to the said workings are made through the openings belonging to the defendants, and that said openings are located from approximately one half to one mile away from the property described in the said exhibit and that the plaintiff did and does not know, and was and is not informed, and did and does not have the means of knowing where the said defendant has entered into or upon the said property beneath the surface thereof and does not know and had and has no means of knowing that the said defendant was engaged and making and occupying, and using the said workings and that during all of the time after the said workings were made the defendant kept secret its entry upon the said property, and its acts done thereunder and thereafter has continued to keep secret and conceal from this plaintiff such entry upon the said property and has refused access to the plaintiff to the said workings for the purpose of determining the extent thereof."

Gun Men Who Met Disastrous Fate In Nev. Beaten To Draw Here By Game Warden Hiscox

Ray Hudson, 23, and R. J. McNutt, 21, felled by bullets from the blazing guns of Sheriff C. A. Chapman at Lovelock, Nevada, Thursday night, nearly met a similar fate near Rough and Ready in this county earllier that day.

Hudson, who was killed in the gun battle with Sheriff Chapman, attempted to beat Game Warden Earl Hiscox to the draw when Hiscox and Deputy Sheriff Fred Williford sought to question them.

Hiscox, noted Nevada County marksman and machine gunner in the World War, covered Hudson and McNutt before the former could level the gun he drew from under a blanket.

Spots Automobile

Game Warden Hiscox, spotting Hudson's car in the brush off the road near Rough and Ready, investigated and found the two sleeping in blankets behind the machine.

On the radiator of the machine was a gray squirrel tail Hiscox inquired if they had shot the squirrel and they stated they found the animal dead on the highway and cut the tail off and placed it on their car.

The game warden noticed two holsters in the rear of the machine. After confiscating the gray squirrel tail he came into Grass Valley and in company with Deputy Williford returned to where the two were parked.

Where Are Guns?

"Where are the guns that belong in those holsters?" Hiscox asked.

"Here is one of them!" Hudson replied, and with that he reached under a blanket for a revolver. Hiscox was faster than Hudson and he had his gun covering the two before Hudson could level his weapon.

The officers searched the two and found gun permits issued by the sheriff at Watsonville for both revolvers. A call was placed into the California Highway Patrol at Sacramento to check up on whether or not the car was stolen but it was found to be registered in Hudson's name.

Released Here

Having no charge to hold them on, the two were released by the local authorities. They presumably then drove to Nevada, where they reportedly held up a resort near Lovelock. After being notified of the burglary, Sheriff Chapman discovered Hudson's car outside of a restaurant in Lovelock. He called for them to come out with their hands in the air. Instead they elected to shoot it out. Hudson was killed instantly and McNutt suffered a bullet wound which may prove fatal.

When asked by Game Warden Hiscox and Deputy Williford what their business was, they replied they were "just traveling around, seeing the country."

DOWNIEVILLE MEN TRAP TWO BEAR

Two bear were trapped near Downieville last week by John Folsom and Bud Cameron. They were the first bear of the season brought into Downieville.

One of the bear was a large female and the other was a cub. The season on bear opened when deer season closed.

There have been several hunting parties organized here for bear but so far as is known not a single bear has been killed in this vicinity yet this season.

Tex Straw, caretaker at the St. Louis Mine for the Valley Gold Mines, reported here Saturday he saw a large bear near the LeCompton Mine last week.

BASKETBALL PLANS TO BE DISCUSSED

Nevada City organizations or individuals desiring to enter teams in the Inter-City Basketball League are invited to attend a meeting in Grass Valley tonight at the Grant School, when plans for the league season will be discussed.

The meeting will be presided over by Floyd Gothard, president of the loop. Fred Garrison of this city is secretary. Last year Nevada City had several teams in the league and it is probable more will be entered this year.

TAHOE FOREST'S PART IN CONTROL WORK PRAISED

Flood warnings by the United States Weather Bureau office in Sacramento were responsible for reducing the flood damage the past spring by a little over two million dollars, according to reliable reports received by that office.

This information is conveyed in a letter from E. H. Fletcher, meteorologist in charge, to Tahoe Forest Supervisor Guerdon Ellis, thanking the Tahoe personnel for their cooperation in this flood warning service. Stations were maintained at the Camptonville, Downieville, Nor Bloomfield and Forest Hill ranger stations, and for Nevada City reports were received from Mrs. Jennie Preston, the bureau's observer here. Telegraphic reports were submitted to Sacramento twice daily in case of heavy rainfall.
